Background

- the middle of nowhere in the middle of nowhere
- Druid tree worship
- most exclusive club in the United States
- atmosphere of Germanic übermenschlich (superhuman)
- 2,300 members (1989)
- became secretive since the 1930s
- members must not speak of Bohemian Grove outside the camp
- members are free to discuss private matters openly away from the public
- off-the-record speeches
- average age of Bohemians is 55 years old (1979 figures)
- efforts to recruit fresh blood (new members to the club)
- ties to politicians and powerful executives
- cellphones, cameras, any recording devices are not allowed inside the Grove
- conspiracy theories say the Grove is where Satanic rituals and abuse takes place and involves the hunting and killing of children in the forest.
- skeptics say for lack of documentation, the Bohemian Grove is nothing more a place for rich men to fraternize and throw their cares away. The owl represents knowledge not Moloch and the Cremation of Care is a dramatic play not a mock human sacrifice.

Lines

- "Bohemians come! Find home again in the Grove! Burn CARE and hurl his ashes, whirling, from our glade!"
- "Come out Bohemians! come out and play, come with all the buoyant impetuous rush of youth!"
- "Weaving Spiders Come Not Here" (leave business/work outside; Act 2, Scene 2 "A Midsummer Night's Dream")
- Richard Nixon: "The Bohemian Grove, which I attend from time to time—it is the most faggy goddamned thing you could ever imagine" [\[1\]](#)

Security

- In 1989 it was discovered "security" was a farce, it was easy to sneak in.

Attire

- owl belt buckles, brass owl bolo ties, denim shirts embroidered with owls
- owl figures everywhere, silver owl ice bucket on the bar (Kitchen Hill Road)
- members dressed in cult-like robes for the Cremation of Care ceremony where an effigy is burned on the lake

Staff

- hundreds of young people shuffle through the Grove's assembly line hiring process to spend several weeks bussing their picnic tables and parking their luxury cars (Porsches, Bentleys, etc)
- hires local youth to work at the encampment every summer (graduates from El Molino High School, local community college, school break), mostly entry level positions (servers, bussers, valets)
- Sonoma County has the third highest rate of youth homelessness for a rural county in the US, lower wages than most counties surrounding the prosperous Bay Area.
- 1978 California Supreme Court ruled the Club's barring of women was discriminatory, but women's options still limited to valet parking and Dining Circle, a literal red line defined areas where women were not allowed to enter, women not allowed more lucrative jobs (maintenance, employee driving)

- hooded figures carrying torches emerge from the woods 100 yards away, bearing a corpse down to the water
- roles of women in the play were all played by men in drag

- prostitutes arrived at 22:00 each night (same bar that a man was arrested for pandering in the 1980s, mentioned by FBI director William Webster)
- joke about women and Hispanics (not Blacks or Jews), pee-pee and penis jokes
